JFK Puts End to Anti-Castro Cuban Training

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy apparently has put an end to U. S. invasion training of anti-Castro Cubans and has reservations on the idea of a total U. S. economic embargo against Cuba.

Instead, he is reaching out for joint action with the other American republics to try to block Communist inroads in the hemisphere.

The President was reported considering a trip to an inter-American meeting to underscore U. S. interest in acting jointly with Latin countries.

The new U. S. ambassador to Peru, James Leach, said after a White House visit Friday that Kennedy was interested in attending a special Inter-American Economic and Social Council meeting that the United States has proposed.

der Kennedy's "alliance for progress" at Montevideo, Uruguay, to consider how to move ahead with Kennedy's "alliance for progress" economic aid programs.

The President announced at his news conference Friday that the United States was asking the Organization of American States, made up of the 21 American republics, to convene the Economic and Social Council meeting.

A major Kennedy thesis is that economic improvement plus social progress would dampen the

Judgment in Dollarway Case Studied

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—U. S. District Judge J. Smith Henley said today he would withhold judgment on the Dollarway School Board's latest desegregation plan until he sees how it is applied during registration late this month or early in June.

Henley asked Herschel Friday, attorney for the school board, when he could file a report on registration. Henley then recessed temporarily a hearing on the board's plan until Friday could consult with school officials.

Henley questioned attorneys for both sides at length during the hearing today.

He seemed concerned that the board's present plan differs little from a previous plan approved by Henley but rejected by the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Robert Carter of New York, attorney for Negro plaintiffs, said the plan would hold desegregation to the first grade level in that no Negro second graders would be permitted to transfer to the predominantly white Dollarway School.

Friday argued that integration at the second grade level will exist because 6-year-old Dolores Jean York, a Negro admitted to the first grade last year under the old plan, will be in the second grade next year.

"This child has successfully attended the first grade without incident," Friday said.

Friday agreed that the board does not intend to make lateral transfers of students already in school. But he hammered on the board's stipulation that any first grader making an average score on a readiness test would be permitted to attend the school of his choice unless prohibited by criteria of the Arkansas pupil assignment laws.

Henley asked numerous questions about application of the assignment laws, which have been upheld in federal courts, and he succeeded in getting an agreement from Friday that few of the criteria would apply to pre-school youngsters.

Friday said the Dollarway integration plan eventually should lead to a situation where attendance areas will govern school assignments, but that he was in disagreement with Negro attorneys on how soon this would come about.

State Wants Speedup in River Work

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Arkansas groups are due here next month to ask congressional appropriation committees to approve funds for accelerated development of the Arkansas River and other water projects in the state.

Rep. James W. Trimble, Ark., said today the House Appropriations Committee had advised him it will hear witnesses from Arkansas and other states early in June, although no firm dates have been set.

Normally, the Senate Appropriations Committee hears out-of-state witnesses at about the same time the House committee schedules hearings.

The Kennedy administration is asking $51.3 million for construction of Arkansas projects; $2,164,000 for planning and $140,000 for surveys. The money would be for use in the year starting July 1.

A large portion of the requested money is for work on the Arkansas River to provide a 9-foot channel upstream to Catons, Okla.

Arkansians have indicated they are satisfied with the budget recommendations. Thus, it is expected that the state witnesses will, for the most part, ask approval of the budget recommendations.

Trimble said he agrees with the construction and planning recommendations but would ask for additional funds to re-study feasibility of the proposed Gilbert and Lone Rock Dams in the White River valley of northwestern Arkansas.

The budget provides no funds for these studies.

One big item in the budget is a recommendation for $15 million for bank stabilization along the Arkansas River—work generally aimed at tying the river down to a channel which eventually will be the navigation channel.

The budget also would provide $1,225,000 to start drafting plans for the series of navigation locks and dams which will be required to provide barge navigation on the river.

Engineers have said that the work of building these locks and dams will begin at the mouth of the river and move upstream.

The Kennedy budget also includes $125,000 to start planning the proposed Ozark Lock and Dam, upstream from Dardanelle Dam which now is under construction.

Other Arkansas projects in the Kennedy budget include:

Construction — Beaver Reservoir, $9.5 million; Bull Shoals, power units 5, 6, 7 and 8, $2.5 million; Dardanelle lock and dam, $9 million; Greers Ferry Reservoir $12.5 million; Millwood Reservoir $2.5 million; Red River levees below Denison Dam, $300,000.

Planning — DeGray Reservoir, $389,000; Gilliam Reservoir, $120,000; Manatee Bayou, $55,000; Ouachita and Black Rivers, Ark., and La., $100,000.

Surveys — Fourche La Fave River, $25,000; Arkansas-Red River pollution, $100,000; Red River, Ark., La., Okla. and Tex. $15,000.

Underworld Thug Drops Out of Sight

GUATEMALA (AP)—Carlos Marcello, former New Orleans underworld figure, dropped out of sight again today.

He was escorted from the Biltmore Hotel about 9 p.m. Wednesday night by police. Hotel employees said this morning they had not seen him since. The police are not talking.

Marcello's wife, daughter, brother and sister-in-law left for New Orleans by plane Wednesday a few hours after Marcello was advised that his family had been ordered out of the country.

Marcello himself was ordered deported but his departure was held up until transportation could be arranged.

Two Pan American World Airways airliners with 248 passengers were held at the airport here for several hours Wednesday night. They were permitted to resume the flights to Houston and San Francisco about midnight.

The incident was linked to the Marcello deportation in street rumors but there was no confirmation that he was placed aboard either plane. An unconfirmed report had Marcello en route to neighboring El Salvador by auto.

Marcello did not enter the Pan American planes by way of the airport lobby. But he could have been taken to either at the end of the takeoff strip from the nearby Air Force installation. Airline officials here have refused to sell Marcello a pass a because he lacked proper travel documents.

In Washington, the Immigration Service said Marcello has not been given any re-entry permit and so far as it knows he has not gotten back into the United States and is not headed here.

The two planes which delayed departure were checked by immigration inspectors as soon as they touched American soil to make certain Marcello was not aboard.

The Houston plane was checked on its arrival there and the San Francisco plane was inspected when it made a stop at Los Angeles.

Marcello was deported by U.S. immigration officials at New Orleans in April. He entered Guatemala with a birth certificate indicating he was a Guatemalan citizen. The government branded the certificate false.

One difficulty in deportation is fixing a nation to take him. The United States won't let him return. His counsel now says Marcello was born in Tunisia.

More Catholics in United States

NEW YORK (AP)—The official National Roman Catholic Directory for 1961 shows a 47.04 per cent increase during the last decade in the number of enrolled Catholics in the United States.

The publication, released Thursday, reflected a total Catholic population of 42,104,900—an increase of 13,470,022 over the 28,634,878 of 1951 and a boost of 1,233,589 over last year.

Rusk to Stress Need for Allied Military Unity

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk flies to Europe today to tell Allied foreign ministers that the strongly aggressive operations of the Communist bloc in such places as Laos and Cuba make greater unity and military strength imperative.

Rusk heads for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Foreign Ministers Council in Oslo, Norway, starting Monday. He is due in Oslo tonight.

President Kennedy told a news conference Friday that he hopes NATO "will be strengthened by the meeting in Oslo and that we will make a more determined effort."

"I believe that as other situations become more difficult there is a common recognition of the need for closer collaboration," Kennedy said. "That is true of NATO."

Rusk is expected to tell the Allies that as pressures from the Communist bloc increase in critical areas of cold war conflict the United States may face the need for drastic measures to meet the Red threat and that it wants the support and understanding of its friends for such actions.

Within NATO itself, U. S. officials said, Rusk will urge an increase in the conventional military forces which could be used to meet the initial thrust of an attack in a NATO area and perhaps delay thereby the hour for defensive use of nuclear weapons.

Specifically, Rusk is expected to argue that the European allies must rely less, in the first instance, on U. S. and British nuclear retaliatory power and more on conventional arms.

At his news conference, Kennedy said the administration is considering the possibility of using American forces against the Communist guerrilla forces in

Communists May Switch to Viet Nam

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The major Communist drive for control of Southeast Asia is reported shifting from Laos to South Viet Nam, with the prospect of a prolonged struggle. Both the Soviet Union and the United States are involved to some degree.

Even before a cease-fire in Laos is nailed down, there is renewed talk in official quarters here of the possible use of U. S. forces in Southeast Asia primarily because of the determined Communist effort through guerrilla warfare to overthrow the South Viet Nam government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

The issue is a matter of grave concern within the administration and could be one of the subjects up for discussion at a National Security Council meeting at the White House today.

President Kennedy has an opportunity at a news conference later in the day to set forth his views on the newly developing crisis.

Kennedy conferred Thursday night with Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Fulbright said after the meeting that in his judgment the administration stands ready to offer direct support to Diem's forces if that becomes necessary to block Red conquest of the Southeast Asian country.

Fulbright also endorsed the use of U. S. military force, if necessary to support either South Viet Nam or Thailand, which is a U. S. ally in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Both countries border Laos.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference Thursday that Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam now number 12,000 men. They are supported by Communist North Viet Nam.

He said the northern forces have undoubtedly been equipped and strengthened by the Soviet Union.

Rusk was asked what the U. S. response would be if the Diem government requested direct arms intervention by American troops. He said he did not want to give a flat answer to the question, then added: "But there will be a very strong effort made now to reinforce that situation; there will be every possible help—across the entire spectrum, in which help is needed."

Teaching a Child to Think Should Be the Aim of Education, Author Declares

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Star Feature Writer

"To teach the child to think should be the aim of education as a whole in the perilous times we face," said Phoebe M. Perkins, local author of a Language Book Series.

She and co-author L. H. Taylor had other aims in mind also when they began work on the series three years ago. Upon completion there will be workbooks for grades five through nine.

It is their desire to present a progressive, and comprehensive study of the fundamentals of our language so that pupils will be well prepared for senior high school English. They want to offer a challenge to the modern child, who is more capable to learn at an earlier age than were the children a decade ago—this ability a result of the radio, television, audio-visual, and more extra-curricula activities.

With the first of the series just off the press—Language Book Five—it is easy to see how they tried to make the study as interesting as possible through the means of stories which appeal to various levels of capabilities and with clever illustrations that fit either the story or the first sentence in the exercise.

Throughout the book there is a sprinkling of good advice, and many of the sentences present interesting facts. Substitutions have been made for the overworked expressions such as "said" and "asked." The lessons on capitalization and punctuation come first, because pupils who understand these rules will have fewer mistakes on their papers. The pupils will have better grades, and the teacher will have fewer errors to check.

Mrs. P. L. Perkins, the distaff side of the team, is no stranger to many in our area. She has been a vital part of a school room for 35 years. Besides teaching English, in which she majored in college, she has given instruction in history and coached girls basketball teams. The hobby of her talented lady is music, and she likes to let soft music lull her to sleep at the end of a busy day.

Mr. Taylor of Waco, Texas, the co-author, has handled all the business, financed the writing, supervised the proof-reading, has been the contact man for publishing and sales, and furnished stories and bits of philosophy used in the lessons. A math major and the author of an Accounting System, he minored in English in college. From 1930-34 Mrs. Perkins taught in the McNeil school where Mr. Taylor was principal, and they have been good friends since.

Each of the Perkins-Taylor Language Books is designed to furnish extra drill for any textbook. It is not necessary to move straight through the workbook. When the class has studied possessives, the teacher can consult the table of contents of the workbook to find the lessons on possessives and have the pupils open their books to those lessons.

The workbook is not the textbook, the authors emphasize, though basic rules are included. It is the source for extra drill in order to impress upon the minds of the pupils the fundamentals of correct usage. Mrs. Perkins has written an English hand-

See Communist World Peak

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson says he expects the Communist world ofensive to reach its peak during the next 12 to 18 months.

Johnson spoke Thursday night before about 1,500 persons at the annual awards dinner of the Brand Names Foundation in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The means and methods of the Red offensive, Johnson said, "may well depend upon the Communist conclusions about the resolution of the Free World—and especially of the United States."

Warning that we are in for "a long, hard pull," Johnson said the Kennedy administration must have flexibility and freedom of action which could come only from bipartisan support.

Johnson, chairman of the new space council, pledged the eventful support of the U. S. in space technology.

"I must tell you that the way will not be easy, the road will not be short, and the cost will not be cheap," Johnson said.

After his dinner speech, Johnson returned to Washington.

No Date Set for Bond Election

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval F. Faubus said today he isn't ready to set a date for an election on a proposed $60 million bond issue yet, but that he definitely will call one.

Faubus told newsmen he had heard a lot of rumors about the calling of the election, then added, "I have just been waiting for the college presidents to show me they mean business and I think they do."

Any delay, he said, "now is due altogether to my decision to wait in calling it (the election)."

Faubus said the election won't be any time soon.

He said he had agreed that members of his administration could work in favor of the bond issue if they want, but that they would have to go off the state payroll to do so.

Faubus said a bond issue election will be called regardless of the outcome of a court challenge of a related $14.5 million omnibus act.

He added that he didn't think school teachers would fight the bond issue, although the Arkansas Education Association is opposed to it.

City Can Restrict Shrubs and Hedges

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The attorney general's office said Thursday a city has the right to restrict height of shrubs and hedges to two feet if they are within 10 to 15 feet of a street intersection.

The ruling went to Bentonville City Attorney Floyd L. Rees. It said courts have held cities have the right to pass such ordinances in the public interest.

In another opinion Thursday, the attorney general's office ruled a sheriff is entitled to expense when he travels after a prisoner, even if he fails to bring back the prisoner.

That opinion went to Searcy County Sheriff T. J. Horton, who said the county judge's office had refused to honor his expense vouchers for a trip to Springfield, Ill.

America Cheers But Astronaut Is in Seclusion

By JOHN BARBOUR

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A heartened America cheered space pioneer Alan B. Shepard Jr. today, and stood by to give him a hero's welcome—while the Soviets pool-poled his grueling trip 115 miles into space.

But Shepard, whose code name is "Freedom 7", is far away from all this.

He faces two days of seclusion on Grand Bahama Island and a scientific grilling to wring from him the most minute details of his 15-minute adventure.

The White House and President Kennedy will wait until Monday—as will the nation—to give Shepard his welcome.

New York City and Los Angeles offered ticker tape parades whenever Shepard was ready.

There was little doubt that Shepard's feat—and the perfect shot of his Redstone rocket—were a major step for the U. S. man in space program, aimed at putting a man in orbit before the year is out.

But the official Soviet news agency Tass said the Project Mercury shot could not be compared with the 108-minute flight around the world by Soviet space pioneer Yuri Gagarin.

The difference is clearly the huge Soviet rockets and their ability to carry more weight at greater speeds into space.

But at least on existing evidence, Shepard's attempts to control his space capsule—even though it was backed up by automatic systems that insured against error—seemed somewhat more than Gagarin's.

If the Soviet Union was reluctant to credit the feat, Shepard's hometown of Derry, N. H., was not.

The whole town exploded into a full-scale holiday when news arrived that Shepard and his space capsule had splashed down safe and well into the Atlantic some 302 miles off the Florida coast.

Residents hailed Shepard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Sr., and their daughter, Pauline.

The governor was thinking of proclaiming a state-wide celebration in the space pilot's honor—and some Derry residents seemed

Strikes Have Cost Missile Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cape Canaveral, Fla., operations chief testified today that strikes, work slowdowns and wishy-washy decision-making have thrown the man-in-space and missile programs probably six months behind.

B. G. MacNabb, in charge of the Cape for the Convair Astronautics Division of General Dynamics Corp., in developing and building Atlas missiles, told a Senate investigations subcommittee this must be corrected "if we're ever going to catch up with the Russians."

He spoke at a hearing interrupted by applause when Chalmers John L. McClellan, D-Ark., announced the apparent success of the first U. S. man-in-space test shot.

The subcommittee is exploring labor troubles and waste in the entire missile program, and whether new laws are needed to deal with these conditions.

In nearly two weeks of hearings the subcommittee has heard testimony that labor unions fomented strikes on flimsy excuses to throw projects behind schedule and force the payment of overtime wages to catch up.

Rejecting suggestions that Communist saboteurs might have had a hand in missile work slowdowns, MacNabb said he blames "greed for the almighty dollar," plus the inability of management to force a speedup and slow decision-making by the government and management.

Collector Says Taxes High Enough

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney like many of the people he collects from, thinks taxes are as high as they ought to go.

But tax laws on both the federal and state level need revision and codification to make them more workable, Cheney said.

"Tax laws have been amended and amended until it has become difficult to administer them," he said. "Probably we need to repeal all the tax laws and write new ones."

Cheney sees two steps which should be taken to meet government's increasing financial burden before taxes are raised. "We should first collect all the taxes on the books and then try to stretch the dollars we have as far as they will go," he said.

Cheney declined to estimate how much revenue due Arkansas escapes because of inadequate collection facilities.

"But it's quite a bit," he said. "And you'll never get 1.10 per cent. We can't get anywhere close to 10 per cent with 50-year old methods."

The 50-year old methods are on the way out. The 1961 Legislature authorized construction of a $1.6 million building for the Revenue Department and Cheney plans to install machines to simplify the complicated tax collecting process.

"The income tax demonstrates how badly we need modernization. We have to handle this manually and it takes nine months to complete the filing."

"There's been talk of a withholding system for state income tax. I believe such a system would greatly increase our collections, but we couldn't possibly handle a withholding system with present facilities in the Revenue Department."

Cheney favors income tax withholding because, he says, many persons who come to Arkansas to earn high salaries on short term construction jobs never pay any tax because they are gone from the state before the tax-paying period.

Legally, they are obligated to pay. However, the money is impossible to collect. Cheney's office doesn't have a record of salaries paid to construction workers and collecting after they return to their home states would be impossible if there was such a record.

The Revenue Department has, during the past six years, added 120,000 Arkansans to the income tax rolls. Many of these were added as a result of a 1957 revision of the tax formula which brought many persons into the income tax range for the first time.

"But, in the six years I've been commissioner, we've found about 10,000 persons a year who should have been paying taxes all along," Cheney said.

The Revenue Department doesn't deal harshly with these new-found taxpayers. If they pay the taxes and penalties, no criminal prosecution is brought.

"We collect all the taxes they owe, regardless of how far back in time we have to go," Cheney said. "With those we're finding now, we usually find they only owe for the past three years (since the 1957 revision), but we can collect all the way back to the inception of the income tax law in 1929."

Cheney is not particularly dissatisfied with the state tax structure. Principal sources are the sales tax, income tax, gasoline tax, liquor and cigarette tax, severance taxes and auto and driver's licenses.

Naturally, as a tax collector, Cheney would prefer to see all tax come from one source, but he realizes this is impossible.

"The federal government has covered the tax field so thoroughly that the state has to look for its sources of revenue," he said. "I think Arkansas has an equitable tax structure, but there'll always be some inequities. And there are always some sources that are uncomfortable for the public."

Principal complaints from Arkansas taxpayers are about the state income tax, Cheney said. Most taxpayers feel the federal government hits income hard enough.

"Yet, we have to have an income tax," Cheney said. "Or large earners would escape their share of the burden. A man who makes a lot of money doesn't pay as large a share of his total income in sales taxes as the low wage earner."

The principal need of Arkansas' tax structure, Cheney believes, is codification of the laws. "I find that most people who have had tax experience in other states like Arkansas' system," Cheney said. "Particularly industrialists. When they compare Arkansas taxes to those in the East, they have no fuss."

Arkansas communities have the following Biblical names: Palestine, Jerusalem, Damascus, Jericho, Gethsemane, Mount Olive and Antioch.

14.2 Million Bales of Cotton Ginned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau reported today that 14,265,038 running bales of cotton were ginned from the 1960 crop. This was equivalent to 14,272,040 bales of 500 pounds.

This compared with 14,515,111 running bales and 14,557,569 bales of 50 pounds ginned from the 1959 crop.

These figures were obtained from individual reports from 5,395 active gins operated in 718 counties in 19 cotton states.

The ginnings from the 1960 and 1959 crops, respectively in running bales by states included: Arkansas 1,346,171 bales for 1960 and 1,534,216 for 1959.

Texarkana Killer to Be Arraigned

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Curtis Lee Jones, 38, a fugitive from Texas murder and robbery convictions, will be arraigned here on federal auto theft charges while federal and Texas authorities work out the priority claims for his custody.

The killer from Texarkana, was captured Monday night near Eureka, Calif., in a pickup truck bearing an expired Oregon license plate. State highway patrolmen reported Jones said he had stolen the license plate the night before, only hours before it expired.

Jones was brought here for arraignment within a few days on a federal charge of transportation of a stolen vehicle across state lines, an FBI spokesman said.

Jones escaped April 13 from the Parker County Jail in Weatherford, Tex. He was being held there pending an appeal from a five year sentence for robbery by assault.

Jones, a former Arkansas convict, also is under a life sentence for murder imposed last Feb. 8.

Monday afternoon at the church for the monthly business meeting that was opened with the group singing the hymn "Love Divine". Mrs. Don Muse led in prayer.

Mrs. Al Plyler, president, conducted the business session and reports were given by committee chairmen. The G.A. Focus Week was discussed by G.A. leaders, Mrs. Kenneth Reeves and Mrs. Don Muse. On Wednesday night, May 17 the G.A.'s will present a program and a coronation ceremony for those who have completed work in their forward steps. This will be followed by a reception in the church dining room. Mrs. R. W. Burkette, Mrs. C. H. Tompkins, Mrs. C. G. Johnson, and Mrs. Plyler were appointed to serve on the review council for the girls' work on their forward steps.

A nominating committee was appointed by the president as follows: Mrs. C. E. Willmore, Mrs. A. R. Underwood and Mrs. Watson White Jr. Mrs. Harrell Hines voiced the closing prayer.

Mrs. Hirst Circle 3 W.S.C.S. Hostess

Circle 3 of the W.S.C.S. of the First Methodist Church met Monday afternoon in the home of the circle chairman, Mrs. O. G. Hirst. Eleven members were present.

The chairman opened the meeting with a prayer entitled "Our Three-Fold Pledge" and then gave the meditation on "I Give You My Word". Mrs. B. A. DeLamar read the scriptures from Psalm 96. Mrs. Wallace Sage gave the introduction to the pledge cards.

During the business session the following officers were elected for the new year: Mrs. Clarke White, circle co-chairman; Mrs. Adam Guthrie Sr., treasurer; Mrs. C. A. Wynn, birthday chairman; Mrs. A. L. Turner, holiday chairman; Mrs. Wallace Sage, Christian Social Relations chairman; Mrs. B. A. DeLamar, reporter.

The hostess served a dessert course during the social hour.

Mrs. W. L. Horton of Hot Springs was the Monday guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ingram.

Herbert Dawson Jr. of Little Rock was the Monday overnight guest of his mother, Mrs. Mildred Dawson.

Ernest Hill of Hot Springs was the Monday supper guest of his sister, Mrs. Harold Ingram and family.

Mrs. Roy Rawlins left Tuesday for Little Rock to visit Mr. and Mrs. Duane Kingston and her little grandson, Anthony Duane, who arrived on April 29.

Mrs. Harrell Hines and son, Johnny, and Mrs. Wilburn Willis motored to Shreveport, La. Monday night where Johnny left for Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss. after a visit with his parents. Mrs. Hines and Mrs. Willis were overnight guests of Mrs. Willis' mother, Mrs. H. O. Barber.

Mrs. W. J. Bull, Mrs. Mettie Robinson and Miss Grace Downing returned Monday from a vacation to points of interest in Florida.

14.2 Million Bales of Cotton Ginned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau reported today that 14,265,038 running bales of cotton were ginned from the 1960 crop. This was equivalent to 14,272,040 bales of 500 pounds.

This compared with 14,515,111 running bales and 14,557,569 bales of 50 pounds ginned from the 1959 crop.

These figures were obtained from individual reports from 5,395 active gins operated in 718 counties in 19 cotton states.

The ginnings from the 1960 and 1959 crops, respectively in running bales by states included: Arkansas 1,346,171 bales for 1960 and 1,534,216 for 1959.

Truckers Ask Interstate Rate Hike

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Eighty trucklines asked the Arkansas Commerce Commission today for an increase in interstate shipping rates.

Commission Director W. M. Buttram said the request has not been studied and he could not give an estimate of the average requested increase.

A check of a rate schedule filed with the application showed truckers are asking for boosts ranging from 21 cents per 100 pounds on shot hauls to 30 cents per 100 on longer runs.

Buttram said the truckers apparently want to get their intrastate rates up to interstate levels already approved by the federal Interstate Commerce Commission.

The average haul in Arkansas, Buttram said, is 100 miles. The new rate schedule would set the price per 100 pounds for a 101-10 mile distance at $1.88 an increase of 27 cents over the old schedule.

Buttram said the Commerce Commission would schedule a hearing on the requested rate increase.

Buttram said the rate increase could go into effect in 30 days without commission action, but that truckers traditionally have waited for Commerce Commission approval before putting a rate raise into effect.

The schedule, filed by Tom Harper of Fort Smith, attorney for the truckers, mentions only rates on first class shipments.

Buttram said, however, that rates on all classes will be adjusted according to the first class rate.

The petition cites increased costs as reason for the rate request. It asks for an increase from $2.56 to $3.06 in the minimum charge.

Truck rates are figured on variables of weight and distance. Bulk shipments can be made for as little as 17 per cent of the first class rate, which usually applies to less than truck-load shipments.

My Readers Speak!

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

To tell or not to tell her teenage daughter that she was born out of wedlock troubled a reader who signed herself "Desperate Mother." My advice to say nothing immediately drew fire, but there were exceptions. This letter from R. W. Gordon, of Middletown, Conn., came as balm of grief:

Dear Helen: Heaven forbid a true census of the number of babes born out of wedlock since the marriage rite was first instituted! Why open a Pandora's box? Should the mother confess, in all probability they would receive the confession as did the philosopher who wrote:

"I ask not, I care not
If guilt's in thy heart.
I know that I love you
Whatever thou art."

Here's the other side of the coin. I think "Heartbroken," who owes her very being to her parents, is over-harsh:

Dear Helen: I think your answer to that honest mother who wanted to tell her daughter that she had to get married was very wrong. I know a couple of families who told their children not to do as they had done; that it was a terrible thing for parents and family. These children love their parents for telling them. In turn, the parents no longer live in dread of their finding out.

In our case, our parents lied to us. When we found out the truth, we lost all love we had for them. I admire that honest mother. You cannot hide from God and, it seems, you cannot hide from people.—Heartbroken

A girl who signed herself J.B.S. wrote recently that her mother had suddenly become her rival for the boy friend's attentions. There was a plaintive undertone to the letter. I replied that the one to be pitied was the mother because her daughter had youth on her side.

Now along comes a letter from a mother who found herself in a somewhat similar situation. However, in this instance, the boy friend sought out the mother. She handled the whole thing very wisely. Judge for yourself:

Dear Helen: J.B.S.'s letter reminds me of when one of my girls was keeping company with a fine young man. They would come in from a date and my girl would go to bed and the young man would stay and talk to me over coffee. His father died at an early age and his mother had to work so there was not the close relationship he craved. He would discuss his troubles with me. It was just between the two of us. The young man is now my son-in-law. —Think-No-Evil

Group Defies Raids in South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Defiant African leaders vowed today to press on with their plans for nationwide demonstrations against the new South Africa republic despite country-wide raids by 1,000 armed police Wednesday.

Nelson Mandela, honorary secretary of the All in Africa national council, called the raids "unwarranted interference" and said word was going around for all nonwhites to redouble their efforts to make the demonstrations a success.

Mandela's organization called for a three-day strike beginning May 29, two days before South Africa becomes a republic, and non-violent gatherings protesting the denial of political rights to the nation's nonwhite majority. The aim is to bring industry and public services to a standstill with the aim of building up public resentment against Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's white supremacy government.

South Africa's nine million nonwhites are voteless and had no say in the referendum last year in which Verwoerd won a narrow endorsement in favor of a republic ending South Africa's previous allegiance to the British crown.

CHISELED CORRECTION

BALTIMORE (AP) — One of the oldest chiseled errors in Baltimore is preserved in a 146-year-old stone tablet in the yard of the Otterbein Church of the United Brethren in Christ.

In German, the stone records June 4, 1726, as the birth date of Bishop Wilhelm Otterbein, the founder. Bishop Otterbein actually was born June 23, 1726. The date came from an ordination certificate unaccountably wrong. The error is corrected, in English, on a newer stone memorial installed in the yard in 1913.

Spa to Vote on Two Bond Issues

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Two separate bond issue elections are scheduled in Hot Springs and Garland County on the same day, May 23.

Hot Springs residents will vote on a $1 million revenue bond issue, under Act 9 of 1960, to finance expansion of National Receptors, Inc.

The expansion already has been completed.

All Garland County residents will vote on issuance of a total of $543,000 in bonds to finance expansion of Ouachita General Hospital and improvements to the courthouse and county library.

These bonds would be repaid by a two-mill tax.

The industrial bonds would be repaid by rentals from National Receptors.

When the irretrievable decision has been made in a world filled with fever and madness it becomes the responsibility of the minority to uphold the hand of the President and make it manifest to all the world that this is a united country.

However, Halleck said that on the domestic front, Republicans have "a responsibility to speak for the millions of good Americans who supported Vice President Nixon in the last election."

But a couple of months ago a Democrat and a Republican, Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and George D. Aiken of Vermont, made a report on Latin-American conditions and attitudes which give some insight into the problems and thinking of the people.

They said: "All of our technical assistance, all of our economic aid, will fail of their purpose—in fact, they may only make matters worse—if they are not accompanied by vigorous efforts and far-reaching institutional changes on the part of the Latin-American peoples themselves."

"In general terms, the kinds of changes which must be made are those which will result in a more nearly equal distribution of opportunity to share in the benefits of economic progress."

"Although there are wide differences among Latin-American countries and generalizations, therefore, usually oversimplify the problem, it may be said that Latin America as a whole is characterized by oligarchic economies and the absence of a sizable middle class."

"Land ownership is characteristically concentrated in a few large and underproductive holdings. (Note: One of Castro's first promises to the Cuban people before he got power was to give them land for themselves.)"

"The tax structure is typically regressive, and such income taxes as are levied are unreasonably low and frequently uncollected. Inadequate taxes measured in terms of ability to pay any tax evasions cry out for tax reform in many areas of Latin America."

"There is no broad base from which to draw support for public services."

"Education is generally available only for the elite. The illiteracy is appalling. Cities tend to consist of luxury housing surrounded by appalling slums. Many of the wealthy have little faith in the economy or political stability of their own country, as is demonstrated by the bank accounts which they have abroad and by the chronic flight of capital to the United States and western Europe."

"There is a great need for social security and other social welfare legislation. A handful of social and economic elite remain the real rulers of many Latin-American countries."

"History provides many examples, in the Western Hemisphere as well as elsewhere in the world, recording that where orderly reform is too long delayed, violent revolution and chaos result."

"Maintenance of their traditional elite society and economic monopoly is no longer practicable or realistic for the Latin-American upper class. Poverty, illiteracy, disease, social and political unrest are bound to characterize a country dominated by an economic aristocracy or oligarchy."

GOP Backing on Foreign Matters

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders have pledged support for the Kennedy administration in matters affecting world peace.

But almost simultaneously, GOP House members attacked the President for alleged appeasement in foreign policy.

Commenting on the failure of the Cuban invasion, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said in Greenville, S.C., he doesn't think Republicans should publicly criticize the Kennedy administration for "mistakes which have hurt our world position."

But in a statement summarizing "the first 100 days of the Kennedy administration," the House GOP Policy Committee said:

"Many of the old 'Acheson appeasers' have reappeared on the scene, still befogged by the notion that softness is the best reply to Soviet aggression. One of the more disquieting aspects of this trend toward appeasement has been the tendency of President Kennedy to make ringing declarations concerning our determination to resist Communist aggression while hovering in the wings behind him are the appeasers busily plotting the next surrender."

And while House Republicans attacked Kennedy, the Republican leaders in Congress, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, pledged support to the President.

Explaining the GOP position to the National Press Club, Dirksen said: "Our first responsibility is to get all the facts available and to insist upon consultation with the administration."

"But when the irretrievable decision has been made in a world filled with fever and madness it becomes the responsibility of the minority to uphold the hand of the President and make it manifest to all the world that this is a united country."

However, Halleck said that on the domestic front, Republicans have "a responsibility to speak for the millions of good Americans who supported Vice President Nixon in the last election."

State Will Appeal Ruling on Jury Panel

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Asst. Arkansas Atty. Gen. Thorp Thomas is expected to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals' refusal to reconsider a ruling which has resulted in suspension of jury trials for Negroes in Pulaski Circuit Court.

The appeals court, meeting in Omaha, Neb., Thursday refused to rehear the case of Luther Bailey a Negro sentenced to death for raping a white woman. The court set aside Bailey's conviction March 17 because it said there was racial discrimination in selection of Pulaski juries.

In the light of the Bailey ruling, Circuit Judge William J. Kirby postponed all jury trials of Negro defendants. So far, trials of 44 Negroes have been deferred until the September term of Circuit Court.

Kirby said it would be useless to hold jury trials for Negroes, since under the Bailey ruling, conviction of any Negro could be set aside. The appeals court, in its original decision, said there was no substantial dispute as to the guilt of Bailey.

In his petition for a rehearing, Thomas said the March 17 decision created "an impossible situation" for Kirby's criminal division of the Circuit Court. The appeals court said no Negro had served on a jury panel in the 2nd or 3rd Divisions of Circuit Court since 1939.

Thomas pointed out that the 2nd and 3rd Division handle civil cases and that Kirby's 1st Division handles trials of criminal charges and Negroes had served on juries in that division.

The Arkansas Supreme Court is now considering a plea by Little Rock Negro attorney Thad Williams, who asks that Kirby set aside trials or bond for three Negro youths charged with raping a white girl in North Little Rock.

The Arkansas court could hand down a decision as early as next Monday.

Bailey was convicted in June, 1956, of raping a middle-aged widow in Little Rock. The March 17 ruling climaxed a long series of legal maneuvers in his behalf. The ruling said he must be retried in nine months or freed.

Louisiana Laws Are Held Valid

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two Louisiana anti-integration laws were held constitutional Thursday by a special three-judge federal court.

The court held that the two laws—Acts 3 and 5 of the fifth special legislative session called to battle school segregation—were "designed to subvert the effective desegregation of the New Orleans schools and thwart the implementation of the orders of this court looking to that end."

The panel, headed by U. S. Appeals Court Judge Richard T. Rives of Montgomery, Ala., issued temporary injunctions restraining the governor and other state and local officials from enforcing the acts.

Act 3 prohibited a parent from giving or accepting anything of value as an inducement for sending a child to a school operated in violation of any law of the state.

Act 5 prohibited doing anything to a child, parent, teacher or other school employee to influence that person to violate any law of the state.

Naval Corpsman Is Commended

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — A Navy corpsman has been commended by the Navy surgeon general for saving the lives of six persons at Marked Tree, Ark.

The citation went to Hospitalman 3-C Lewis A. Jernigan III of Jackson, Miss., officials at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station in Meridian announced.

Rear Adm. E. C. Kenney's commendation praised Jernigan's actions as a "job well done."

On Nov. 20, 1960, Jernigan awakened residents of an apartment house at Marked Tree which had caught on fire. Jernigan was driving a Navy ambulance to Jonesboro, Ark. and spotted the fire in the pre-dawn hours.

He used his ambulance siren to arouse the neighborhood and then helped evacuate the building's tenants, including an elderly invalid man. He remained at the scene to administer first aid.

Latins Live in Wretched Conditions

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many Americans probably think of Latin America vaguely as a land of bananas and bananas without knowledge of the life there or even interest in why millions south of the United States may not be madly in love with it.

Yet, many millions there live under wretched conditions. And it was wretched conditions that gave Fidel Castro a strong popular support for his revolution in Cuba.

In Latin America in the days and years ahead there probably will be more revolutions, based either on discontent and desire for better living or Communist conniving, or both.

After President Kennedy made a broad goodwill gesture toward Latin America—with a request to Congress for a $500 million aid fund—he let the invasion by Cuban rebels begin.

When it ended in fiasco there was shuddering in the United States that the assault on Castro, with American help, would do this country additional harm among Latin Americans sympathetic to Castro reforms, if not to Castro.

Meanwhile Kennedy had sent his top adviser on the area, Adolph A. Berle Jr., down for a look around. Shortly after the Cuban invasion failed Berle told a Senate committee opinion against communism is crystallizing in Latin America.

This is the rosy view.

But a couple of months ago a Democrat and a Republican, Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and George D. Aiken of Vermont, made a report on Latin-American conditions and attitudes which give some insight into the problems and thinking of the people.

They said: "All of our technical assistance, all of our economic aid, will fail of their purpose—in fact, they may only make matters worse—if they are not accompanied by vigorous efforts and far-reaching institutional changes on the part of the Latin-American peoples themselves."

"In general terms, the kinds of changes which must be made are those which will result in a more nearly equal distribution of opportunity to share in the benefits of economic progress."

"Although there are wide differences among Latin-American countries and generalizations, therefore, usually oversimplify the problem, it may be said that Latin America as a whole is characterized by oligarchic economies and the absence of a sizable middle class."

"Land ownership is characteristically concentrated in a few large and underproductive holdings. (Note: One of Castro's first promises to the Cuban people before he got power was to give them land for themselves.)"

Observe this Sunday as Christian Home Service Day. Let us aid our Laymen's Organization in applying Christianity to the Solution of Human Problems. Help remedy the tragedy of Adult Delinquency—the greatest reason for Juvenile Delinquency. The failure of parents has resulted in wrecking millions of young lives. Then Mr. and Mrs. — be sure your failure does not cost you and God the soul of your child.

Wake up! Get right! Make a move in the direction of the church and take your teen-agers with you! Just remember, the Church is the strongest dyke against evil. The Church is the greatest foe of the penitentiary. The Church is mighty important, because Christ died for it. How can anyone afford NOT to support it — NOT to attend it — NOT to help propagate its teachings? Take your youngsters to church this Christian Home Week.

You In The Church

The Church in You — form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Spiritual Values take on a very different meaning with us adults once our juveniles become involved in the dope-menace or get in trouble with the police.

The Churches of This Community, Are the Only Institutions Which Have as Their Main Function, the Transforming of Human Lives
They Are the Sign Boards Pointing the Way to God.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through this series of pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted . . . to combat Communism on all front . . . to be faithful to God.

Our Ministers Are God's Servants Who Call the Signals Against the Organized Forces of Evil. They Invite You to Enlist On the Side For God . . . to Come to Church.

"HE WHO WAITS UPON THE LORD SHALL RENEW HIS FAITH"
